

Fiona Lewis is a successful entrepreneur, author, public speaker, and digital marketing business coach. Coming from an Education background, Fiona took the leap of faith in 2008 to take a different direction in order to pursue a career in Internet Marketing. She was able to successfully replace her income working from home and then went on to publish her bestselling book, 'Mumpreneurs Online: EXPOSED'

Fiona's career went from strength to strength over the years and she featured regularly as an online expert in major multi media outlets. By 2012, Fiona established Super Savvy Business which has since grown into an international business with team members based in Australia and Europe. Fiona's reputation as an expert in her field attracted the attention of leaders in the digital marketing space and she has been featured as an expert in two other best-selling books and is a sought after speaker in her areas of expertise.
